Democratic Candidate for President Has Been Liberal with Orders to His Tailors Since He Was Nominated.

IN NEW YORK AGAIN, BUT STOPS AT A NEW HOTEL.

Makes the Seville, at Madison Avenue and 29th Street, His Headquarters for Third Visit Since Campaign Opened.

In the days when he taught country the third hotel that has sheltered him All is not harmonious at Republican three visits. Once more he is State headquarters. The anti-Odellites 404 to No. 410. There he will confer th Judge Herrick, the candidate for Governor, and with the national leaders for two or three days.

The Judge arose to-day at 5.30 as usual and went down to the Hudson River from Rosemount at Esopus to take his daily plunge. The water was cold and the air was cold, but the Judge paddled around like a sea lion and con-femsed to the shivering reporters on shore that he felt greatly refreshed. After breakfast he drove down to the n with Secretary McCausland. The Judge carried a hatbox and Mr. McCaustand carried two large suit cases that looked like the sample values of a drummer for a clothing

The suit cases were stuffed with apparel. Fifteen New Suits.

Since his nomination for the Presi-ency Judge Parker has purchased fifteen new suits of clothes. Some of them have been turned out by the king of Kingston and represent the latest up-State styles. Others been manufactured by a New York tailor along the latest lines of tropolitan dressiness. Thus the Judge ipped for appearance before the blie at all times.

Although the Judge has supplied himself so liberally with suits it is on record that he has only one pair of sus-penders. In this way does he remain close to the standard of Jeffersonian simplicity.

Judge Parker and his secretary rode in the day coach of the West Shore train, leaving Esopus at 7.05 o'clock, reaching Weehawken at 9.15. They drove to the Seville in a cab. When the Judge and Secretary McCausland got into the cab there was not much room for the suit cases, and no room at all for the hat box, which was carried on the seat beside the driver.

Arriving at the hotel the Judge went to inspect the roms, leaving the suit cases in a cab. It was an anxious ment for Manager Edward Purchas. the Judge has passed by the Hotel Astor, where he stopped on his first visit, and the Hoffman House, sh sheltered him when he came to New York for the second time, it is apparent that he is fastidious about his accommodations.

Doesn't Like Street Noises.

Doesn't Like Street Noises.

The rooms were found satisfactory, but the Judge complained that it was next to impossible in New York to find a hotel not passed by street cars. Accustomed to the soothing night calm of Esopus, broken occasionally only by the bleat of Macy, the lamb, or by the melodious whistle of a passing train, the Judge does not sleep well with trolley cars clanging by under his bedroom window.

Judge Parker registered "Alton B. Parker, Esopus." Under his own name he wrote that of Secretary McCausland, thus reversing the usual order, for it is the secretary who generally signs the names on the hotel register. The big suit cases and the hat-hox were removed to Judge Parker's suit, and he made ready to receive visitors. Word was sent to national headquarters that he was in town, and a hat-taillon of hotel servants was detailed to guard his rooms and keep out inquisitive persons not having business with the candidate.

Judge Parker has finally decided that he will attend political meetings. It is the desire of his managers that he show himself to the people and allow them to shake his hand. To this desire he has given acquiescence.

There was a great deal of comment around State and National headquarters when it became known that Judge Parker had gone to the Seville. Some of the friends of the candidate explained that the Seville is owned by Justice Dugre, of the Supreme Court, a personal friend of Judge Parker and of all the Democratic leaders, and a heavy contributor to the Democratic campaign fund.

the part of the President to straighten out the tangle. The rumors go so far as to insinuate that Becretary Cortelyou's trip to Washington is for the purpose of persuading President Roosevelt to ask Gov. Odelt to resign either the effice of Governor or the office of Chairman of the Republican State Committee.

On top of all the troubles of the Republicans there appeared in a morning newspaper to-day an alleged interview with William Barnes, jr., of Albany, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, in which Mr. Barnes is quoted as saying that both Herrick and Parker will carry the State, and that the city will give Parker 12,000 plurality. Two reporters are willing to make affidavit that they were told this by the gloomy Mr. Barnes. It may be mentioned in passing that Mr. Barnes has the reputation of being somewhat of a "josher."

Mr. Barnes was extremely indignant to-day when the interview was called to his attention. Everybody else around headquarters was indignant, too. When Mr. Barnes was asked if the had said that the Republicans have no show of carrying the State with their national or local tickets he replied: 'I'm too busy to talk about such d-n
